CASE STUDY

AN UPGRADED SPACE FOR STORING HAZARDOUS WASTE

BACKGROUND:

A large hospital in the southern US had thousands of square feet of tired and worn out concrete floors. They needed a cost-effective solution for transforming the floors, with minimal disruption to the patient care areas.

SOLUTION:

They chose a small hazardous waste storage room to test potential solutions. A local Hawk resurfacing professional was called in to resurface the stained and peeling floor using the StoneTuff™ Concrete Coating System.

RESULTS:

Upon completion the next day, the hospital staff was so pleased with the transformation, they decided to resurface all of their tired and worn out concrete floors with StoneTuff.
